Child brutally attacked by Rottweiler Pet Dog

Kid critical in hospital

Star of Mysore has received three pictures of the child taken after it was attacked by the animal. The pictures are so bloody, ghastly and revulsive to look at with a portion of the child's head being torn off and the blood splattered all over the place that we decided not to publish the pictures.

Mysuru, Sept. 7 (RK&BCT)- Even in their wildest dreams they would not have imagined that their two-year-old child would be mauled by their own dog. The shocked parents are yet to come to terms with the incident where their little child was bitten by their three-year-old pet dog. The child is now undergoing plastic surgery at a private hospital in city for the deep wounds caused by the sharp canines of the Rottweiler.

The incident occurred yesterday afternoon and the child who was bitten by the pet is Amoghavarsha, the son of Ajay, a resident of Dattagalli Second Stage near Kuvempunagar. According to family members, the child was playing outside the house at around 2 pm when the attack took place.

A photo of Rottweiler for representation purpose only.

Hearing the loud screams of the child, parents and neighbours rushed outside only to find the Rottweiler biting the child's head with his body dangling from the dog's mouth. The shocked parents found that the dog had bitten deep into the child's head and blood was oozing out. The dog did not release the child even as parents and the neighbours caught hold of its mouth and tried to release the child.

Having no other choice, the parents beat up the dog with sticks and rescued their child after almost 45 minutes of struggle. The child's skull cap bore deep cuts.

The profusely bleeding child was rushed to Bhanavi Hospital where first aid was provided. The child was taken to Apollo Hospital this morning where doctors were in the process of conducting plastic surgery. Doctors said that the condition of the child was critical but stable. Family members said that the Rottweiler was like a member of the family.

Rottweilers are blocky dogs with massive heads and they are generally selected for guarding and protection work. They get along well with people and other dogs if they are trained properly. However, males in particular can be aggressive.

Cars are targets of latest crime trend – fuel theft

The Maruti 800, owned by a resident of Vijayanagar, was the target of petrol thieves. Criminals abandoned the petrol bottle when the car owner raised an alarm.

Mysuru, Sept. 7 (RK&BCT)- Motorists whose cars refuse to start in the morning could be victims of the latest trend – fuel theft. City residents are reporting a small but rising number of fuel thefts, predominantly from cars that have been parked in front of houses. Rising fuel costs could also be one of the reasons for the crime.

Thieves typically steal fuel by cutting through fuel lines, smashing open fuel caps, removing petrol tanks or, in some cases, drilling into the fuel tanks and pumping out the contents. Cars, SUVs and 4x4s, are particularly vulnerable because they are higher off the ground, giving easier access, and they have bigger fuel tanks.

Star of Mysore received many calls from the residents of Vijayanagar who complained that petrol is being stolen from their cars that have been parked outside their homes. One of the residents said that he heard a sound in the middle of night yesterday and when he woke up he found two persons stealing petrol from his Maruti 800.

"Spotting the thief I rushed out and seeing me, the thieves escaped in the dark. They, however, abandoned the bottle that was used to draw petrol from my car," he told SOM.

Other residents told this newspaper that even bikes are not spared. Compared to cars, stealing petrol from bikes is easy. Vijayanagar inspector Anil, however, denied such incidents. He said that no case has come to his notice and action will be taken if he receives a complaint.

Footwear Fables

Connecting the datelines of epics Ramayana of Thretha Yuga going back to around 10,000 years as well as Mahabharatha of Dwapara Yuga to around 5,000 years with two other datelines namely a) of our ancestors existing on earth 60,00,000 years ago and b) of the modern form of humans having evolved around 2,00,000 years ago should make it an excitingly fascinating subject to debate, without either prejudice or premeditated views. The fascinating factor is mainly the contribution of artists (painters and sculptors) in presenting divine players of the epics as also their foes, namely the demons (raakshasas) in human form, except for some deviations such as the ten-headed Ravana or some deities with more than one pair of hands. For the purpose of this column, the centrestage of the debate is awarded to footwear as it is featured in many episodes of the epics and later periods recorded in history. In Ramayana, Sri Rama's brother Bharatha holding fort by keeping the Lord's footwear to represent the king and in Mahabharatha, the polyandrous wife Draupadi using footwear of the five Pandava brothers for sake of privacy are oft-quoted examples in footwear fables (paaduka prasanga).

Footwear, as is its image in our days has its own saga of several centuries dating back to the now-defunct ancient civilisations namely Roman (750 BC), Greek (12th-9th centuries BC) and Indus Valley or Harappan (2600-1900 BC). Stated very briefly, the earliest shoe prototypes were made of leather, gradually graduating to become popular, subsequently acquiring a status symbol revealing wealth and social standing. The rest of the footwear saga is too long and descriptive to be covered in the limited space of this column.

Footwear, given its exclusive role of protecting wearer's feet from getting hurt by rubble and thorn in the walkway, has got itself relegated to the back-burner in relation to other elements of one's attire. It is disallowed into the precincts of shrines and also living spaces of homes in the name of cleanliness. With some disgruntled persons using footwear as missile while hurling it at top officials and also judicial officers not too long ago, as reported in the media, the stuff earned some name and no fame, unlike in the episode featuring Nikita Khrushchev, the leader of the then USSR in the UN shoe-banging incident of 1960.

To digress and come back give the footwear its due attention, one may cite the report in a section of the press this week featuring two-member team of Bengaluru launching movement to help the poor walk safely, given a large segment of the population not affording footwear. Their paaduka prasanga, as it were, is urging the public to drop their used pairs in boxes at selected locations to be later reached to needy barefoot beneficiaries.

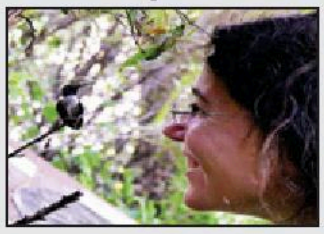
'Hummingbird whisperer'



Los Angeles: Melanie Barboni, an Assistant researcher at UCLA's Earth, Planetary and Space Science Department, is known as an expert in Geology and volcanic activity among her colleagues, but those who haven't worked with her before know her only as the "hummingbird whisperer."

She has always been fascinated by the tiny birds, and after moving to Los Angeles, she has nurtured a colony of over 200 hummingbirds right outside her office window.

Born in Switzerland Melanie Barboni, admired the colourful birds in books, but dreamed of seeing them one day. Her job lead her to Los Angeles, California, where hummingbirds live all year round, she was overjoyed. She has spent the two years since developing a colony of 200-plus hummingbirds right outside her office window, by hanging four nectar-filled feeders for them. Melanie has gotten so close to her hummingbirds that she "cannot go to a place where they are not there."

Edible artworks!

Wellington: Vegetable smoothies are not exactly everyone's favourite treat, but one amateur artist has come up with a way to make them more appealing — by decorating them with intricate designs, using only natural ingredients.

Hazel Zakaryia's edible artworks may not make her smoothies tastier, but they definitely make them prettier to look at. Using only wood skewers and a kitchen knife, she painstakingly paints over the thick fruit and vegetable base with edible "paints" made from ingredients like turmeric, blue matcha, milk, cream and butterfly pea powder. The New Zealand-based amateur artist told Martha Stewart that she discovered smoothie art completely by accident, while trying to decorate a squash soup. "I was trying to garnish my butternut squash soup with some coconut cream swirls when I got the idea," she said. "The swirls didn't quite turn out as planned, so I added a bit of pesto and made them into a tree instead." It turned out so good that she kept experimenting and eventually settled on smoothie art.

VOICE OF THE READER

R.K. Narayan and the Film "Guide"

Sir,

Recently I re-read the 1958 R.K. Narayan's classic novel "The Guide" and also watched on YouTube the 1965 Dev Anand's film of the same name.

The book is an all-time best-seller as it has had nearly 80 reprints and the film, of course, was a box office super hit. I remember seeing the film at "Maratha Mandir" theatre in Mumbai in 1966 and even a year after its release the house was jam-packed.

The Director (Vijay Anand), actors (Dev Anand, Waheeda Rehman and Kishore Sahu) and Music Director (Sachin Dev Burman) were all outstanding. Dev Anand had admitted in an in interview with Shekhar Gupta many years later that this film was indeed a high point in his career.

The story is somewhat unique in the sense that a young beautiful lady passionately devoted to classical dancing and married to a much older and self-centered archaeologist, has an extra-marital relationship with an ordinary but very understanding tourist guide. Narayan develops the circumstances leading to this situation beautifully and the climax is even more dramatic.

When Dev Anand read the book, he was keen to make it into a film. Since someone had told him that the author lived in Los Angeles, USA, he travelled all the way there only to find out that the author actually lived in Namma Mysuru. They finally met and a deal was struck.

When Narayan saw the movie, he was displeased on two counts. He had hoped that the film would be shot in and around Mysuru but Anand had chosen a more glamorous place like Udaipur as the location. More importantly, he did not appreciate the depiction of the husband indulging in drinking and prostitution. Anand had to explain to Narayan that for the Indian audience to accept heroine's infidelity, putting down the husband was essential. Notwithstanding these minor aberrations and certain other cinematic liberties, the movie depicts the story line fairly faithfully.

According to Dev Anand, revealed some 40 years later, there was a problem with the Censor's Board. He arranged a private screening of this movie to the then I&B Minister (Indira Gandhi) who after seeing the movie ordered the Censor's chief to pass it. Also according to Waheeda Rehman, though she liked the dancing part of the character, was reluctant to do this vamp-like role but "Dev Sahab persuaded me."

However, the movie did deviate from the book at the climax. In the last scene of the movie, the hero is explicitly shown to possess some supernatural power by bringing in rain in a drought-affected area, whereas in the last paragraph of the book the same was just implied. That is R.K. Narayan's touch of genius. For lovers of light reading and those who admire old Hindi movies, I recommend re-visiting both these classics.

Virija, Hullahalli Canals breach due to heavy rain

Villagers blame sub-standard works and extensive sand mining caused the breach

Nanjangud/ Mandya, Sept. 7 (RS, Nagaiah&BCT)- Thanks to heavy rainfall, two canals breached in the last 48 hours destroying standing crops of paddy and sugarcane. While the Virija Canal breached near Srirangapatna, Hullahalli Canal breached near Nanjangud.

Over 20 acres of agricultural land were damaged after Hullahalli Canal or Ramapura Canal at Shankarapura Layout in Nanjangud Taluk breached on the night of Sept. 5. Heavy rain that lashed the region caused the breach of the Canal that resulted in rainwater entering the fields and causing extensive damage to the crops. The breach was observed at the 23rd kilometre.

The Canal was constructed at Hullahalli to supply Kapila River water to agriculture fields in over 6,500 acres of land. According to villagers, heavy rains and substandard work on the Canal have caused the breach which was modernised recently with a cost of Rs. 104 crore.

Irrigation Department Officers who rushed to the spot promised the farmers that they will initiate measures to plug the breach. Villagers, however, say that it would take at least six months to rectify the problem. Villagers have blamed the authorities and sand mafia — which had dug the ground to extract sand — for the breach and crop loss.

The collapse of the Canal will affect irrigation in 4,500 acres of land. Kabini Executive Engineer Mariswamy visited the spot near Shankarapura and assured that authorities will inspect and take a call on taking up the work.

VIRIJA CANAL

Standing crops in more than 50 acres of land in Melapura village in Mandya district have been washed away after Virija Canal breached due to heavy rain on Tuesday night. The Canal, on the Mysuru-Bengaluru National Highway, developed cracks due to heavy rain and substandard works. It breached at 35kms and gushing flood destroyed standing crops.

Paddy, tomato, sugarcane and other crops have been washed away. Cauvery Neeravari Nigam (CNN) Limited Assistant Executive Engineer Thammegowda visited the spot and carried out an inspection. Villagers took him to task alleging that even though the Canal development works were completed last year, the Canal has developed cracks this year due to poor-quality works.

Thammegowda explained that the officials have stopped releasing water to Canals from August 30. The heavy inflow to the Canal was due to rains that battered Mysuru on Tuesday night, he said. Huge silt deposits at Ullani, where water is allowed to seep into the Cauvery River, is also said to be the reason for the water to enter the fields.

Farmers said that they had been requesting the officials concerned to de-silt the Canals to prevent such incidents. "Our request to upgrade the Canal from 550 cusecs capacity to 800 cusecs has not been considered," they complained.

Child falls into sump, dies

Yakshith

Periyapatna, Sept. 7 (Veeresh&KS)- In a tragic incident, a two-year-old boy died after falling into a sump in front of the house at Medal Block in Periyapatna yesterday. The deceased kid has been identified as Yakshith Kumar, son of Akshay and Jayalakshmi couple.

Yakshith was playing in front of his house at about 5.30 pm yesterday, when he accidentally fell inside the sump.

As Yakshith was not found in front of the house, the shocked parents began to search for him only to find his body in the sump.

Periyapatna Police, who have registered a case in this regard, are investigating.

Three youths held for stealing parcels

The arrested youths have been identified as Jeevan, Naveen and Dhanush, all residents of Vidyaranyapuram in city.

The accused had stolen parcels from Bluedart Courier vehicle, which was parked in front of a house in Chamundipuram here recently and had gone absconding.

K.R. Police, who had registered a case in this regard, arrested the three accused and recovered consumer items worth about Rs. 25,000 from them.

Consumer Court asks KSOU to pay Rs. 2 lakh to student

Mysuru, Sept. 7- A former student of Karnataka State Open University (KSOU), Mysuru, has sued the University in a city Consumer Court for issuing an unrecognised degree. The Court has now directed the University to pay Rs. 2 lakh as compensation to the student.

R. Roopasree, a resident of Nanjangud, filed a case against KSOU at the District Consumer Disputes Redressal Forum where she alleged that in the academic year 2013-14, she completed her BA degree from the KSOU.

After completing the degree, she applied for 3-year LLB course at Sarada Vilas Law College, Mysuru and paid the fees. But her admission was cancelled on the grounds of non-recognition of the KSOU BA degree by the University Grants Commission (UGC).

Roopasree then moved the Consumer Court seeking compensation. In its judgement, the Court pointed out that UGC had recognised KSOU courses only up to 2012-13. Still, the KSOU mislead Roopasree that courses conducted by it were recognised by the UGC even afterwards.

"The Court is of the opinion that the complainant was a consumer of the University and the KSOU committed unfair trade practice," the Court said in its judgment.

Stating that as Roopasree had lost valuable years and job opportunities due to the Varsity's unfair trade practice, the Court directed KSOU to pay her a compensation of Rs. 2 lakh.

Survey predicts 113 seats for BJP in Assembly polls

Bengaluru, Sept.7- A Delhi-based poll survey agency has predicted 113 seats to the BJP in the pre-poll survey conducted by it in the State.

The survey conducted by the Centre for Political and Social Studies (COPSS) has also predicted 86 seats for the Congress and 25 to the JD(S) in the 2018 Assembly polls. The agency had predicted the most accurate survey in the Assembly polls held earlier this year, when it said that the BJP would return to power with a huge majority.

The agency which interviewed a select section voters in all the 224 Assembly segments of the State, predicted 113 seats to the main Opposition BJP, 86 to the ruling Congress and 25 to the JD(S).

The agency's prediction has come as a boost to the State BJP. Anti-incumbency factor and the popularity of Prime Minister Narendra Modi will catapult the BJP to power in Karnataka, the agency has said in its survey report. According to the survey, the BJP is likely to bag 16-18 seats out of 28 Assembly segments in BBMP jurisdiction, while the Congress is likely to get 6 to 8 and the JD(S) 0 to 2.

In Chikmagalur, the BJP will cling on to its popularity by winning 3-4 seats and JD(S) one seat in the 5 Assembly segments of the district. Most Assembly segments in Mumbai-Karnataka North region of Karnataka is likely to witness a keen contest between the Congress and the BJP, while it is almost the same situation in Hyderabad-Karnataka region too. The JD(S) will make little impact in these two regions of North Karnataka.

However, the JD(S) which has a strong presence in old Mysuru region covering Hassan, Ramanagar, Mandya, Bengaluru Rural and Tumkuru district, is likely to give a tough fight to the ruling Congress and the BJP. The JD(S) is likely to secure most of its seats in this region, the survey said.

A COMMITTED CORPORATOR

The above photograph was captured without the notice of the Corporator Sri Sunil of Vidyaranyapuram, he is so committed about his ward, that after the completion of the work of water pipe lining on 16 th Main, 4th Cross of Vidyaranyapuram, I have noticed the Corporator was doing voluntary work without waiting for the Corporation labour to come and was filling the cavern along the roadside without any hesitation,.

Since morning 8 he was doing this yeomen service.

We definitely require such committed Corporators amongst us who will take care of the ward in all parameters. Hat's off to his simplicity.

Decoding Mythology

Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

The Myth of Cultural Marxism

Right now, in the United States of America, something terrifying is happening. A whole bunch of aggressive violent white men have publicly marched in the city of Charlottesville for White Supremacy. They embody the visible tip of a deeper rage that festers across many parts of the country. Many white people, especially the less educated, pejoratively referred to as White Trash, are convinced they are being cornered by Cultural Marxism.

Cultural Marxism is a new kind of communism. While Classical, or Material, Marxism is based on tangible wealth (haves and have-nots), Cultural Marxism is based on intangible structures of power (privileged and unprivileged). The former focuses on the wallet and wanted workers of the world to unite. The latter focuses on identity (gender, sexuality, race and religion), and seeks the destruction of all social structures that determine power hierarchies: patriarchy, heterosexuality, family, monogamy, marriage, religion, caste, and state. Material Marxism sought to bring in equality through class wars. Cultural Marxism fights the battle of social justice. But is Cultural Marxism a real phenomenon, or is it just propaganda, a conspiracy theory?

While most people are horrified at the inequality that exists in the world, not everyone is willing to go to Marxist extremes. Fifty years ago, Democratic Socialism was seen as the middle path between American Marxism and Russian Communism. Today, many people support women's rights, LGBTIQ rights, human rights, secularism and are against all forms of racism. However, very few are against all structures. They would like a realignment of the power structure, not a total dismantling of social order as we know it. These moderates reject White Supremacists, and their wild claims. White Supremacists, however, are convinced, moderates are pawns of a clever war being waged by Cultural Marxist extremists in Universities and in media around the world. They have flipped racism into deep guilt and self-hate seen in educated and successful White folk using tools of Free Speech and Political Correctness.

White Supremacists in the USA once were known only for their hatred of black people, who they saw as inferiors, as ingrates, who would have stayed savages in Africa had they not been enslaved. Now their canvas of hatred has expanded to include Jews (who control industry and media); homosexuals and feminists (who are challenging conventional family values); South Asians (who are stealing jobs), and Muslims (who want to destroy Pax Americana as well as Christianity). White Supremacists are easy to condemn, and caricaturise, as they lack the intellectual muscle of academicians, lawyers and artists.

When the Right Wing uses the word 'Marxists' they are referring to Cultural Marxists rather than Material Marxists. But intellectuals and academicians insist that Cultural Marxism is not a real thing; it is a bogey raised by fascist leaders around the world to fool their voters and crush the 'secular' opposition. In Russia. In Philippines. In Turkey. And, as some whisper, in India.

A myth is something that is real for the believer and false for the non-believer. It binds people together, creates tribes. For the Right, Cultural Marxism is real: a dangerous but invisible monster, cunning enough not to repeat the mistakes of Material Marxism. For the Left, everything the White Thrash racist oppressors fear has to be fantasy. This combative mode of the world is the essence of Western myth, that many in India have now embraced, on the Left and on the Right.

Yesterday afternoon the Central Administrative Tribunal (CAT) met in Bengaluru and stayed my transfer."

The Bengaluru Bench of CAT also directed Prof. Rajasekharan to continue in the post of Director as he was relieved "unilaterally" and will continue to function in the post until further orders.

A Bench comprising K.B. Suresh, a Judicial Member, and P.K. Pradhan, an Administrative Member, passed the interim order after hearing an application filed by Prof. Rajasekharan, who questioned the legality of his transfer while contending that he was transferred by the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) without issuing notice to him.

"I was surprised that after three times, they constituted a committee for the fourth time. This I came to know only during the hearing yesterday through my lawyer. The Bench has stayed both my transfer and relieving order," he said.

According to Prof. Rajasekharan, it looked like the CSIR itself, the Director General had mooted this idea, and they were playing a game with him. "They talked about my so-called anti-Kannada stand, an allegation made by Karnataka Rakshana Vedike. Even the local MP Pratap Simha had written many letters citing law and order issues," he said.

As the Tribunal has adjourned the hearing for Sept. 18, Prof. Rajasekharan said, "I do not want to talk much now. After Sept. 18, I will talk and all truth will come out."

It may be recalled that Jitendra Jhadav, Director, National Aerospace Laboratories, Bengaluru, was holding additional charge as Director of CFTRI, following Prof. Rajasekharan's transfer on Aug. 28.

A source in CFTRI Director's office told SOM on condition of anonymity that they were waiting for the orders from CSIR Head Quarters, Delhi. "However, they have no choice but to obey the orders of CAT. People in the campus have understood the reality and everything appears cool," he said.

1993 Mumbai Blast Case

Abu Salem, Karimullah Khan sentenced to life

Two get death penalty, 10-year imprisonment for other accused

Mumbai, Sept. 7- Tahir Merchant and Feroz Abdul Rashid Khan, two of the accused in the 1993 Mumbai blasts case, were awarded the death sentence by a special Terrorist and Disruptive Activity (TADA) Court, here this morning. Other accused, Abu Salem and Karimullah Khan, were sentenced to life imprisonment and Riyaz Siddiqui was sentenced for ten years.

Abu Salem

The Court had convicted six people, including the mastermind of the 1993 serial blasts that had killed 257 and injured 713 people, Mustafa Dossa and Abu Salem, on June 16 this year. Dossa died on June 28 following which the case against him was closed.

The CBI had claimed that the role of Dossa was "more severe" than Yakub Memon, who was hanged in July, 2015 in the same case. The CBI had also said that Dossa, Merchant and Feroz, were "main conspirators."

Arguments over the degree of sentences continued after the conviction in June and concluded on Aug. 10. All the accused were facing multiple charges like criminal conspiracy, waging war against the Government and murder of people.

This was the second leg of the trial — in the first leg that concluded in 2007, the TADA court had convicted 100 accused in the case, while 23 people were acquitted. The attacks were planned by Dawood Ibrahim, India's 'most wanted' fugitive who also has his name prominently figuring on the 'most wanted' lists of the US and the Interpol.

The initiative was flagged off in the presence of eminent people like Union Environment, Forest and Climate Change Minister Harsh Vardhan Singh, cricketers Virender Sehwag, Mithali Raj and car racer Narain Karthikeyan. The initiative comes at a time when rivers of the country are going dry and many cities are facing water shortage problems. The rally has led to a splash of blue on everyone's social media timeline.

The campaign, that aims to bring a policy change at the national level to save the rivers, will reach Mysuru on Sept. 8 after covering Coimbatore, Madurai, Kanyakumari, Thiruvananthapuram, Tiruchirapalli and Puducherry. From Mysuru, the rally will move to Bengaluru on Sept. 9.

'RALLY FOR RIVERS' IN MYSURU: *A public event will be held at Maharaja's College Grounds tomorrow (Sept. 8) at 6 pm. Pramoda Devi Wadiyar will be the chief guest. Celebrities from all walks of life – leaders of various political parties, religious leaders, Bollywood, Kannada, Telugu and Tamil film actors, cricketers and corporate heads, all have pledged their support to Rally for Rivers on Twitter.

"This is not a protest nor is this an agitation. This is the campaign to raise awareness that our rivers are depleting. Everyone who consumes water must Rally for Rivers," said Sadhguru.

"As citizens of India, we need to express our responsibility and change the existing situation of our rivers. How our parents have left the rivers for us, at least that much we should restore before we leave. For the well-being of the nation, for future generations and for our generation, let's stand up and make this happen." he added.

Mysuru, Sept. 7- Karnataka's chess has got its first Grand Master in the form of Mysuru lad M.S. Hubli Tigers maul Bengaluru Blasters

Mysuru, Sept. 7- Hubli Tigers was made to sweat for their second win of the Karbonn Smartphones Karnataka Premier League 2017, powered by Cycle Pure Agarbathies, after Bengaluru Blasters, led by Abhishek Bhat's brilliant 5 for 20, put up a determined defence of their 102 for 8 at the SDNR Wadiyar Stadium in Mysuru, yesterday. Eventually, Hubli crossed the line in 19.1 overs, finishing at 103 for 8 for a two-wicket win.

The only consolation for Bhat was that he became the first bowler in this edition to claim the purple cap. Hubli made the perfect start as R. Vinay Kumar, the captain, got Rajoo Bhatkal to poke at an out-swinger off just the third ball of the match. Two overs later, Bengaluru's second wicket fell with the 17-year-old Nikin Jose (7) miscuing a slog to backward point. Abishek Sakuja, the left-arm spinner, was introduced in the next over, and he promptly bagged the third wicket of the afternoon, M. Vishwanathan (2) only finding air with a cross-batted swat.

The crucial duo of Shishir Bhavane and Pavan Deshpande got together, aware of the pressing need for a partnership. The ball wasn't really coming onto the bat, and the batsmen needed to go after the bowlers to make things happen. To that end, Bhavane (4) charged Ritesh Bhatkal, the off-spinner, hoping to clear long-on, but found more height than distance. Bengaluru were 29 for 4.

The Hubli spinners – Praveen Dubey and Sakuja – were particularly threatening, and runs were hard to come by. However, when he could, Deshpande (25 off 28) came down the track, and at one point used his big arms to heave Sakuja over long-on. Motivated, he attempted another big hit later in the over, but this time it ended up down the fielder's throat.

The wickets kept coming. S Sharath (1) attempted a prod, lost sight of the ball and stepped out of his crease for a run, by which time the 'keeper Anurag Bajpai had smartly broken the stumps. Then, Aman Khan had Abishek Bhat bowled through the gates.

Manjesh Reddy used the sweeps and the laps to good effect to pick a couple of boundaries at fine leg, and also cracked a drive through covers off Aman, looking to inspire a Bengaluru fightback. The enterprise proved costly though as Manjesh holed out for a 33-ball 30 off Sakuja. Off the final ball of the innings, Prasidh Krishna managed a big heave over the fence to take the total past the 100-mark.

Bengaluru's total might have been low, but they showed they had the bowlers to defend it. Mayank Agarwal and Bajpai seemed well set, having added 16 runs within the first two overs, but there was a flurry of wickets when Bajpai (6) went after a full-and-wide delivery from Prasidh and was caught at point. V Koushik, the medium-pacer, then had Aman trapped in front with a shapely delivery.

Bhat then picked consecutive wickets with his medium-pace. The big fish, Mayank (10), was the first to fall, throwing his arms at a wide delivery only to be caught at point. Bhat then greeted K Siddharth with one that nipped in on the stumps. When Koushik had Abhishek Reddy following suit shortly thereafter, Hubli were reduced to 34 for 5. It was game on.

Vinay Kumar and Dubey found themselves in the middle, the team were desperate for a partnership. They manufactured one. They happily defended the good deliveries, knowing the target was still attainable. And their running between wickets was determined.

Slowly, they drained the momentum Bengaluru had mustered from those wickets, and with six overs to go, they needed just 25 runs more.

At this stage, patience was key, for both teams. Bhat had been incredibly patient, and his reward came soon enough – he had probed outside off to Vinay constantly before eventually nipping one to have him bowled for a 34-ball 28. It was his third wicket. The 45-run stand was broken, and Bengaluru had a foothold again.

Remarkably, Bengaluru hung in there. Dubey and Kranthi Kumar added 20 runs to take Hubli to the brink, but then came a period in which Hubli's nerves and Bengaluru's determination came to the forefront. Bhat was brilliant. He had both Kranthi Kumar and Ritesh Bhatkal dismissed in the 18th over to kindle hopes of an unlikely Bengaluru victory. And even after Hubli tied scores, they were made to sweat till eventually, Dubey flicked through mid-on for the winning run. Despite that, Bengaluru's efforts ensured both teams walked off the field with smiles.

Brief scores: Bengaluru Blasters 102 for 8 in 20 overs (Pavan Deshpande 28, Manjesh Reddy 30; Abhishek Sakuja 3-20, Aman Khan 2-12) lost to Hubli Tigers 103 for 8 in 19.1 overs (Vinay Kumar 28, Praveen Dubey 32 not out; Abhishek Bhat 5-20, V. Koushik 2-17).

WORD OF THE DAY

Fruition

Meaning: Enjoyment.

Origin: Fruition must come from the word fruit, right? Not exactly. Fruition and fruit are related (both ultimately come from the Latin verb frui, meaning "to enjoy"), but they were derived independently. The original meaning of fruition had nothing to do with fruit. Rather, when the term was first used in the early 15th century, it meant only "pleasurable use or possession." Not until the 19th century did fruition develop a second meaning, "the state of bearing fruit," possibly as the result of a mistaken assumption that fruition evolved from fruit. The "state of bearing fruit" sense was followed quickly by the figurative application to anything that can be "realized" and metaphorically bear fruit, such as a plan or a project.

Examples: "... wife and husband had nothing to do but to link each other's arms together, and wander gently downwards towards old age in happy and perfect fruition." — William Makepeace Thackeray, Vanity Fair, 1848.

"Many brands depend on crowd funding to bring a concept to fruition." —Curtis Sparrer, Adweek.com, 7 Apr. 2017.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Laugh like a drain

Meaning: To laugh coarsely or loudly, especially at the discomfort of others.

Origin: This is a UK phrase, from around the time of WWII. It is first recorded by Eric Partridge in A dictionary of forces' slang 1939–45, 1948. He describes it as 'Ward-room and also Army officers' slang'. The reason why drain was picked for this simile isn't clear. Most similes include items that especially display the property being described, e.g. as white as snow. Drains don't immediately make one think of laughter, although the gurgling sound might have been thought of as being similar to chuckling.
